

Call for Speakers

The Ethical Sourcing Forum Planning Committee invites you to share your knowledge and experience at the upcoming Ethical Sourcing Forum in New York City

Are you interested in speaking on one of the proposed topics? Do you have an idea for a CSR or Supply Chain Sustainability presentation that could be developed into an informative session at the ESF?

If so, the Committee invites you to submit a brief written proposal outlining your thoughts. Not only do we welcome your direct participation, but your input is also helpful in informing the overall thematic direction of the Forum itself.

The ESF Planning Committee will evaluate all proposed sessions in terms of relevance to industry; focus within the Forum structure and in terms of speaker qualifications.

The forum is organized into Plenary sessions, Mini-Labs and Workshops. Plenary's are open and attended by all attendees, whereas Mini-Labs and Workshops are breakout sessions, in which attendees can select which one to attend.

Plenary Speaker

Plenary sessions: Usually consist of 2-5 speakers, speaking in intervals of 10-20 minutes each, followed by QA. Presentation occurs in the plenary area with approximately 150 delegates.

Mini-Lab Speaker (break-out session)

Depending on the topic, there can be up to two presentations per 40 minutes' session. After the session, there will be a 5-minute break between sessions. This break allows delegates who have heard the session to exit and for a second group to enter – at which point the session is repeated. Each session will accommodate up to 40 delegates.

Workshop Moderator (break-out session)

These sessions are set at approximately 1.5-2 hours each where delegates are expected to interact in small groups and actively discuss issues with their peers. The moderator should facilitate the discussion and group exercises to maximize learning opportunities for all. Each session will accommodate up to 50 delegates.
